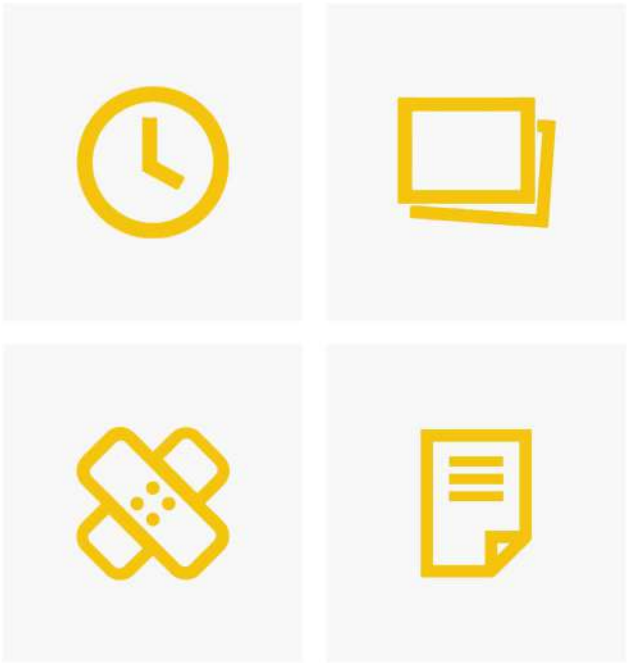
HOW WE WORK



TIME MATERIAL & PRICE / FIXED COST

Prometteur Solutions Pvt. Ltd. is a team of IT experts, who came with a promise of delivering technology-empowered business solutions. We provide world-class software and web development services that focus on playing a supportive role to your business and its holistic growth. Our highly-skilled associates and global delivery capabilities ensure the accessibility and scale to align client's technology solutions with their business needs.

01 // TIME MATERIALS & PRICE

Customers who want flexible procedures and agile project execution basically prefer this kind of Model. This model works for projects with changing requirements and fits long-term projects.

When there is no set scope of work and when a lot of flexibility is required, we proceed with hourly based costing where the client will have to pay as per the time spent for the work done. The client must be willing to get really involved in the project since their approval and vision is an important part of development.

ADVANTAGES

- Paying on completing the milestones. The customer pays for actual functionality delivered to them.
- Control the end results. The client becomes the person who approves each milestone. List of all the tasks is provided to client which can be checked for its completion keeping the project timeline in check as well as the payment

DISADVANTAGES

- No fixed price. Each type of functionality will cost a different amount as different amounts of time were spent to develop them. The customer has to pay the total amount approved for each milestone.
- Long disputes. If a client finds something they don't like or something that doesn't correspond to the functionality listed in the checklist, the development team will have the right to dispute causing delays

- No fixed timeframe. Since planning and project execution is iterative, there's no specific timeframe for when the project will be completed.

02 // FIXED COST

Fixed Cost based approach is best when the service provider and client have a good relationship to eliminate the chance of fraud. If the two parties trust each other, it's less likely that a dispute will be there. The complete specification is ready before the development in detail and based on it a fixed cost is taken for development. Wireframes also need to be created to help the development team figure out the hours necessary to implement all features

ADVANTAGES

- Finalised pricing: After the contract is signed, the client knows the budget. The company cannot overcharge without notice.
- Strict deadlines: When the customer understands what features they want in an app, the developers can come up with a clear plan and definite deadlines.
- Predictability: When everything has been discussed and planned beforehand, it's easy to monitor the status of software development and predict if the work will be completed on time.

DISADVANTAGES

- After the project starts, it cannot be adjusted during the course of implementation. If market conditions change and some planned feature is no longer needed or a new feature is needed, it's impossible to accommodate that. Implementation of this new feature has to be negotiated independently. With fixed-price projects, the paperwork and approval of new features takes much longer and can potentially stall the whole development process.

- Miscommunication risks
- Long planning. A fixed-price contract demands in-depth planning. Developers need to discuss every detail and every action along with possible pitfalls.
